

Freedom to walk the street without fear

Maya Krishna Rao, Faculty, School of Arts, Shiv Nadar University, created the 'Walk' in response to the horrific gang rape in a Delhi bus on 16 December, 2012. The performance has been performed in a range of spaces - on the street, schools, colleges, shopping malls, theatre festivals, including the Jaipur Literature Festival. It has created wide interest and debate on social network sites. Recently, Maya performed the 'Walk' along with activists of women's organizations in Connaught Place on May, 17, 2013. According to Maya, " The Walk is not just about the freedom to walk the street at any hour of day or night without fear; it's about taking hold of the night to think, reflect, talk to each other; it's about doing all the things that Jyoti Pandey cannot do anymore."

Maya Krishna Rao, Faculty, School of Art, Design and Performance, SNU, in performance with activists